Discipline Report:

Confidence comes from discipline and training. In order to be irreplaceable one should dare to be different.

The building will not be strong until the foundation is strong. No matter how tall it is without the support of pillars, it won't be stable. In this case, the pillars refer to good virtues and discipline, the practice of which can be boring indeed, but in our school we tend to make things simple and interesting to help students imbibe these virtues.

Installation of CC Cameras, Parent-Teacher meeting after every test and SMS alert to parents about their child's performance are some of disciplinary measures taken up by our school management
